

Social and Personal.

THE piano recital at the Woman's Club yesterday afternoon was quite a brilliant affair. There was a large attendance of the members and a number of out of town guests were present.

John Quincy Cole, who gave his initial concert at the club, is a very promising young musician. He is a pupil of L. P. Watson, of this city, and expects to study at the Boston Conservatory of Music and later to go abroad. Mr. Cole's playing was characterized by warmth and enthusiasm and his technique was remarkably clean. His interpretation of the wonderful "Fantasie Chromatique et Fugue" by Bach, by many considered Bach's greatest composition for the piano, evinced a mental grasp very rare in one of his age and experience. In short, the whole program was performed with excellent finish and most pleasingly to the audience.

Mrs. Charlotte Kendall Schroeder, who has a wonderful contralto voice, rendered "O Dry Those Tears" by Del Riego, with great power and sweetness of expression.

Mrs. Frank W. Duke was chairman of the evening, and the hostesses were Mrs. C. W. Brown, Mrs. E. E. Chapin, Mrs. W. J. Payne, Miss Eliza Harvie and Miss Ellen Guilgon.

Sing Supper.

A most beautifully appointed dinner was tendered Robert B. Jones at the Jefferson Hotel Saturday night by a number of his friends. Decorations were in Killarney roses, and a graceful basket of these flowers formed a centerpiece for the table. Those present were Robert B. Jones, J. J. Pollard, W. L. Jeffers, Jr., Gordon Smith, Charles D. Larus, Jr., Charles S. Sichel, R. N. Pollard and J. T. Carneal.

Mrs. Hodges Returns.

Mrs. J. Allison Hodges, vice-regent of the Confederate Museum for the State of North Carolina, will return to-day from Wilmington, where she has attended the annual meeting of United Daughters of the Confederacy at that place. She has succeeded in raising $2,000 for the endowment of the North Carolina room at the museum in Richmond. This is one of the first, if not the first, States to guarantee this sum for the permanent endowment of their room in the museum. Leaves for Norfolk.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Pugh, of Delta, Pa., who has been the guest of Miss Virginia Whitley in this city for several weeks, will leave in a few days to visit friends in Norfolk. Miss Pugh, who has been entertained at a great deal during her stay in Richmond, will be presented to society in Baltimore during the coming winter.

University German Club Officers.

The University of Virginia German Club has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Earl N. Floyd, of Meridian, Miss., president; H. M. Bowen, of Bramwell, W. Va., vice-president; J. P. Finner, of Suffolk, secretary and treasurer. This club gives several Germans during the year, and a number of Richmond girls always attend them.

Informal Tens.

The Woman's Club will have several informal tens this week in honor of the visiting ladies of the American Public Health Association, embracing Canada, the United States and Mexico, which will hold its annual convention in Richmond this week.

These tens will be on Tuesday.

Christ Church, Georgetown, was the scene of a pretty wedding on the afternoon of October 14, when Miss Anna Cost Poole, daughter of Mrs. Richard Poole, became the bride of the Rev. Walter Williams, of Grace Church, Georgetown. The church was tastefully decorated with palms and white chrysanthemums, and the bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Louis Hankins, was preceded down the aisle to the altar by the bridesmaids, Misses Florence Hankins, niece of the bride, and Louise Boggs, daughter of Captain and Mrs. C. F. Boggs.

The best man, Rev. B. Duval Chambers, of Trinity parish, Maryland, and the ushers—Rev. J. J. Gravatt, Jr., of New York; Rev. M. S. Barnwell, Jr., of H. V. Saunders, and the Rev. J. L. Jackson, all of Baltimore—were classmates of the bridegroom at the Virginia Theological Seminary. Bishop Harding performed the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. James H. W. Of Interest to Women

Correspondents are requested to send communications on subjects in which they are interested and regarding which they desire information to the Editor of the Woman's Page.

Representing a Christmas club of women in another city, I write to ask for detailed information regarding the making of a bag, and hand-embroidered Christmas presents. Would like the benefit of any new ideas that may have recently developed along these lines, and should like to have a pattern estimated in each instance. E. P. A.

The following suggestions may afford you some help. A bag of green leather with a cut design combines both use and beauty as a gift. It is sufficiently new not to seem hackneyed, and the work on it may be done by a careful person with a pair of sharp-pointed embroidery scissors. The entire cost of such a bag, including stamped leather with tan cord for a draw-string, is estimated at less than a dollar. The bag is nine by eight inches in size.

Bag of Monk's Cloth.
A different, but equally attractive, bag in fashion is green monk's cloth with two selva stripes bagged together. The bagging is done in green and two other colors, brown and blue are employed in embroidery the design. The bag is fourteen by twelve inches in size, and the design is stamped on two strips of monk's cloth. The bagging extends to the top of the bag, and the gathering cord runs through holes in the monk's cloth. The aggregate cost of the materials is slightly above one dollar.

Nothing is daintier or more acceptable than a pin cushion and dresser cover of white linen, decorated with embroidered designs. The designs are carried out in coronation cord and eyelet work. But the design is so stamped on the linen that, if one prefers, the designs may be embroidered. The work is done in ball cotton with a double thread, and the over-edge is added with a triple thread chain stitch. The dresser cover should be forty-four by twenty inches, stamped on linen and combining the designs in coronation cord and eyelet work. The pin cushion, made of five-inch pin cushion, its pattern and working materials, and a pair of open several valises, succeeded in getting $40 in money and several rings, the property of the minister, Lewis Boerdel, a white painter who lives in Richmond, was arrested on suspicion, and as he slept in the room, and was accused of the theft. The case was held in $100 bail, until the case could be investigated. The Greek minister only came to Petersburg yesterday and speaks only his own language.

Two Assault Cases.
J. D. Jackson, an elderly negro, was arrested last night on the charge of criminally assaulting Maggie Jones, aged ten years. The assault was made on the home of the girl's mother, Ada Jones, on Harding Street, and during the absence of the mother. When called in the Police Court this morning the girl continued on account of the inability of the girl to appear.

Sheriff W. C. Gill, of Chesterfield county, yesterday from Union, where he went to take charge of Andrew Osborne, who was wanted for criminally assaulting the thirteen-year-old daughter of a farmer in Chesterfield county. Osborne was formerly in the employ of Barberick, but left the day after the assault. He was traced to Pennsylvania, where he was captured.

The case was held in $100 bail, until the case could be investigated. The Greek minister only came to Petersburg yesterday and speaks only his own language.

Governor Tells Story of Stranded Steamer

NEW YORK, October 18.—The passengers and part of the crew of the Southern Pacific liner Antilles, which ran aground off the southeast coast of Florida a week ago, were landed here to-day by the steamship Comus, of the same line. Among the passengers was Governor Jared Y. Sanders, of Louisiana, who gave an interesting account of the accident.

"We had experienced two days of heavy weather," he said, "capped on Monday morning by a hurricane in which observations were impossible. Neither the captain nor the passengers felt much alarm, however, and most of us had retired when, shortly before midnight Monday, the Antilles struck Sandy Bottom with a shock that brought everybody up in a minute. There was no panic, and Captain Byrnes assured us after a hasty examination that the boat was in no immediate danger. Meanwhile, the constant splutter of the wireless overhead informed us that news of our plight was being flashed out to all the world."

"From Monday night until Friday, we laid in waiting the arrival of the Comus, which we learned had been sent to take us off. For nearly four days we did not see a sail or any other signs of life except an occasional seagull and one flamingo, which had been caught in the hurricane and was brought on board, where it died of exhaustion. With a calm sea again."

Want County to Invest in Road.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

C. and I. at Huntsdale, are being circulated and freely signed. It is held that the road will do much toward opening up the upper part of the county, in addition to furnishing a much-needed road in competition with the Southern.

Beauty an Essential.

Comfort and service are undoubtedly the first necessities in a shoe, but every woman finds beauty equally essential.

A comfortable fit and durable leathers are the first thought in the making of every PATRICIAN SHOE.

However, not a sole or vamp pattern is cut or the least detail planned without also making the necessary cut a beautiful one, the necessary shaping graceful, the necessary stitching and finishing effective and rich, and the necessary durable leather attractive.

He Should Lift His Hat.
When and to whom should a man lift his hat?

When walking with a woman, a man always lifts his hat to any friend she may meet and greet. He should lift his hat to older and distinguished men, to clergymen. He should also lift his hat when offering a seat to a woman or when she addresses a question to him.

Food and Children.

A High Tea.
What is "high tea" and what is the hour for such a function?

A high tea takes the place of dinner on Sunday evenings, and is a former fashionable in Philadelphia, where hostesses had the opportunity to offer hot rolls and butter, escalloped oysters, fried chicken, precisely sliced cold ham, waffles, hot cakes and preserves. The hostess at a high tea sits in a velvet chair, and pours hot tea, coffee or chocolate and presses the guest to take another waffle.
